

The Neurodivergent Counsellor: CPD Resource Pathway

Neurodivergent-Affirming & Trauma-Informed CPD Toolkits

Modular. Inclusive. Built from lived experience.

Introducing The Neurodivergent Counsellor Accredited CPD Training Toolkits

Supporting Neurodivergent Lives with Confidence, Compassion, and Clarity

The Neurodivergent Counsellor CPD Training Toolkits are crafted for professionals, caregivers, and neurodivergent individuals who want to deepen their understanding and support of neurodivergent people through a trauma-informed, neurodivergent-affirming, and identity-validating lens.

Whether you're a therapist, educator, parent, or peer facilitator, these resources provide the insight and practical tools needed to work ethically and supportively with autistic, ADHD, PDA, AuDHD, and otherwise neurodivergent individuals across the lifespan.

Each module is fully resourced, CPD-accredited, and grounded in lived experience, academic research, and inclusive practice frameworks.

Who Are These Resources For?

- Counsellors, therapists, and clinical supervisors — working with autistic, ADHD, PDA, or AuDHD clients.
- Educators and SEN professionals — including teachers, SENCOs, learning support staff, and inclusion leads.
- Health and social care workers — including keyworkers, youth workers, and family support teams.
- Parents, carers, and family members — navigating identity support, regulation needs, or late diagnosis.

- Peer facilitators and community organisers — supporting mutual aid, lived experience groups, and community training.
  - Neurodivergent adults — pursuing self-guided CPD, peer education, or professional facilitation.

Why This Training Matters

This training honours:

- Intersectional identity and cognitive diversity
- Lived experience, including late-diagnosed and multiply-marginalised voices
- The realities of emotional regulation, shutdowns, burnout, and systemic harm

Modules are designed to meet current ethical guidelines from BACP, UKCP, NCS, and educational inclusion frameworks, with clear CPD tracking and licensing options.

Why These Are Classified as Intermediate–Advanced CPD Resources

These modules go beyond foundational awareness by integrating theory, lived experience insight, and applied professional tools designed for reflective implementation. Rather than offering surface-level overviews, each resource supports deep exploration of neurodivergent-affirming and trauma-informed practice through intersectional, relational, and context-specific lenses.

Participants are invited not only to learn but to critically reflect, reframe established practices, and apply case-based tools in their professional settings. Modules include:

- Facilitator-ready reflection prompts and planning tools
- Case scenarios rooted in lived experience and complexity
- Language reframes and documentation audits
- Guidance for co-regulation, capacity-aware support, and relational safety
- Tools for challenging systemic narratives (e.g. behavioural compliance, sensory suppression, diagnostic bias)

These resources are therefore suited to professionals who are actively engaged in neurodivergent support work, and who are ready to interrogate practice norms and implement affirming, embodied change, whether in therapy, education, care, supervision, or systems-facing roles.
